6/June/2019

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Mr. Ange Pagel to your organization. I have known him for 10 weeks during his internship from April to June 2019. Even though the period is quite short, he has truly impressed me with his professional knowledge and skill. The project that he is working on is a simulation of Vehicle-to-Vehicle communications. There are 3 simulation tools that he has to learn and use in the project. Thus, this project is considered very challenging to finish within 10-week time, especially for the student on a diploma level. However, he has shown me that he is a good self-learner, since he learns very quickly and always has a good progress every week that we have a meeting. This confirms that he has a strong background in programming, especially Object-Oriented Programming (OOP). In addition to his programming skill, he is also a good listener. During the weekly meetings, he always try to find keywords and clues from our discussions that could help him to solve the problems and continue his work. Based on my observation, he is a logical and systematic thinker. He works in a very organized way, i.e. a step-by-step approach, and aims to perfection. According to his performance, he is one of the outstanding students under my supervision so far.

Therefore, I would like to take this opportunity to strongly recommend Mr. Ange Pagel to your organization. I truly believe that his outstanding knowledge and skill will benefit your organization a lot. Please do not hesitate to contact me in case you require further information.

Yours Sincerely,

Asst. Prof. Dr. Chakkaphong Suthaputchakun
